Frame house, clapboard, L shaped, 2 stories, 2 bays by 1. This small simple house has wide eaves, a one-story porch on the front or west and the north, shutters in place, and trees in the yard. Paint is peeling, however, and the rain spouts need attention.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

This small house really belongs in the small country town that once was Aberdeen. Out of place on US 40, it seems ~~[illegible]~~ impervious to change in spite of the thundering traffic at its door and the New-York to Washington fast passenger trains and freights at its dock yard. The abnormally high demand for medium to low-cost housing is probably responsible for its survival here.

Typical of dozens of small frame houses on newer streets in this town, with slight variations on the theme.
