The National Register of Historic Places is a list of properties acknowledged by the Federal Government as worthy of recognition and preservation for significance in American history and culture. National Register properties include districts, sites, buildings, structures, and objects of significance to their local community, state or nation. The National Register program is part of a national policy to recognize and protect the country's historical and cultural heritage. The National Register is maintained by the Secretary of the Interior and administered by the National Park Service. In Maryland the National Register program is administered by the Maryland Historical Trust, the State Historic Preservation Office, a division of the Department of Planning.

For further information on the National Register program, please contact Peter Kurtze at the Maryland Historical Trust at (410) 514-7649.
