DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Miltenberger Frame House is located on the western side of Pleasant Valley Road near Rocky Gap State Park.

This building originally consisted of a "T" shaped, two and one half story, four bays wide frame structure with german siding covered with asbestos shingles. It rests on a low random rubble foundation sheathed in cement with a plain water table. The gable front roof is covered with asphalt shingles with lightning rods. Eaves consist of a cornice, soffit and bredmould. Three inside end original brick chimneys have corbeled caps. One has been replaced with an outside end cinderblock chimney.

One pedimented entrance in the corner of the southern facade has a one light transom and a highly decorative door with four recessed panels, a shelf decorated with brackets, pendants, and scrolled carvings, one light flanked by fluted and capped engaged palasters, and a cornice with egg and dart moulding. Pedimented one over one light nailed windows have wooden lugsills. Pedimented one light windows are located in the tops of the gable ends. A hip roofed wraparound veranda has been enclosed on all but the south where there are decoratively cut and bracketed posts. A shed roofed porch on the east has also been enclosed.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Miltenberger Frame House is situated in the eastern section of Allegany County near Rocky Gap. The house was built ca. 1903.(1)

Farming has been and remains the only industry in this eastern area of the county. There are no other major industries to support the population, and the area is widely dispersed with farmers even though this occupation is "a risky undertaking at best" because of the rugged, rocky terrain.(2)

Frame houses like this one are typical turn of the century rural dwellings in this section of the county and are a reminder of the way of life experienced by that era's farmers.
