DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

St. Mary of the Annunciation Church is located on St. Mary's Terrace in Lonaconing, Allegany County.

St. Mary's Church is a one story high, three bay wide building constructed using the cruciform plan. The original structure was constructed of sandstone laid in the random ashlar pattern. The only portion of the church that is not constructed of stone is the chancel. It was added later and is constructed of brick laid in American Common Bond. The church rests on a low stone foundation with a plain water table. The roof is gabled with a wide soffit and is covered with replaced asphalt shingles. A louvered belfry with a small spire is located at the west end of the nave. Windows in the church are stained glass lancet lights with pointed arches. The main entrance is located on the west facade and features a replaced vertically paneled door. Located above the main entrance is a pointed arch. Originally the area between the door and the arch may have been a stained glass transom but it is now paneled in wood with a lancet tracery. A single replaced brick chimney is located on the northern side at the apex of the nave and the transept.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Town of Lonaconing has long been a Catholic Community. Catholic missionaries from the Redemptorist Fathers in Cumberland had begun to visit the area as early as 1840. At first the number of Catholics was so small that mass was celebrated in the Brummage Stone House (Historic Sites Inventory Form AL-VI-B-042). In the early years the congregation was almost exclusively German and services and instruction were given in the German language. By the 1860's, several Irish families had joined the congregation as well and it was decided that the congregation was sufficiently large to begin building a church. In the summer of 1865, the stone was cut and hauled and work on the walls began. The church opened its doors for the first time on Christmas EVE in 1865. The church was still unfinished and quilts and blankets were hung around the building to keep out the cold.

From 1865 to the present time, the church of St. Mary of the Annunciation (originally known as St. Raphael's) has grown and prospered. For 22 years, from 1885 until 1907, the parish operated the only parochial school in Lonaconing (See Historic Sites Inventory Form AL-VI-B-090). In 1965 the church celebrated its centennial anniversary and certain renovations including modern stained glass windows, new pews and a new organ were installed.¹ However, the building is in excellent condition and retains much of its original fabric and appearance.
