DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE
A c 1840 frame farmhouse, now occupied by tenants, the Ricks house is located on the South side of Owensville Road near Chew's Church. The farm, consisting of about 225 acres on both sides of the road is still in operation. The 1860 and 1878 county maps show James Bird and Frank M. Byrd respectively, as owners of the house and approximately the same area of land. The house stands in a large yard surrounded by tall hemlocks and an unusually old and beautiful white oak. The exterior of the house is clad in white painted rough siding. It has a wood shingle roof and dark green shutters. The structure is in two parts, both two stories high and one room deep. On the front (North) elevation, the Westernmost part has three bays. The first floor windows have 9/9 pane sashes; the second floor windows: 9/6. The main entrance is located in the East bay of this part of the house. The door is framed by transom and side lights. There is a stuccoed brick chimney at the (West) end of this part of the house. The only opening in the West elevation is a 4/2 pane attic window. The Easternmost section of the house has a two bay front elevation. The windows on both floors have 6/6 pane sashes. There is a stuccoed brick chimney at the (East) end of this section, and one small window opening on the second floor level. A hip roofed columned porch has been built on the front of the house extending across both sections. A 1 1/2 story kitchen is attached to the rear of the house by a low hyphen and later shed-roofed addition. The kitchen has an interior chimney. The interior of the West section of the house is more refined than that of the East section; the mantels on both floors have reeded pilasters with double arched capitals. The window trim is typical of the 19th Century; molded frames and square corner blocks with medallions. The staircase, in the entrance hall, has a round hand rail and slender newel post. The East section of the house has a fireplace on the first floor but none on the second. There is a winding stair in the Southeast corner. The low ceilings and the low placement of the windows indicate that the roof of this section has probably been raised to match that of the West section. The house is in fair condition.
