Based on the available information, the house at 807 West Street does not appear to meet the National Register Criteria for individual listing. The two story gable roofed house with single story front porch appears to be a common house type of dating to the first quarter of the 20th century. However, it has undergone extensive alterations, including the application of vinyl siding and the enclosure of the front porch, which have compromised its integrity. Thus, it does not appear eligible under criterion C. Furthermore, it is not known to be associated with any significant events or people. Lastly, it located well outside the Annapolis Historic District in an area of commercial strip development.
