DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two story, Federal style, frame house was built between 1817 and 1820 on a tract of land known as My Lord's Gift. The land, consisting of about 350 acres had been purchased in 1795 by Francis Williams from Oneal Robosson. Robosson (or Robinson) lived in the stone house located farther south on the Old Annapolis Road.* My Lord's Gift was owned by Francis Williams' decendants until the death of Percy Williams in 1919. Wesley Williams is recorded as the owner on the 1860 county map and Mary Williams as the owner on the 1878 map.

The main section of the house (dating from 1817 - 1820) is 5 bays long; has an A-roof; interior, end chimneys; and 6/6 pane windows with louvred shutters. The interior plan is one room deep with a center hall and stair. There is a cellar under the north room (dining room). The interior is basically unaltered and has two unusual features: a built-in cupboard beside the chimney and a small warming closet inside the chimney in the dining room. The stairway is also unusual in that the space beneath it is not enclosed by a spandrel.

In about 1880, a kitchen wing was added to the north end of the house. It has two floors, connected by a narrow winding stair. The room on the second floor can be reached from the main section of the house through a small door. The kitchen has been modernized but still retains much of its original character.

In the early 20th century, the entire house was covered with wood shingle. A shed porch has also been added to the rear of the kitchen.

* (#130 on the survey: Robinson House)
