DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Isaac Cox, according to the 1878 county atlas, was a farmer and owner of 160 acres in the ARnold area. He was born in Cecil County and settled in Anne Arundel County in 1855.

Cox's name appears on the 1878 map, indicating that he had a residence in the location of this house. The date of the present structure is not known but it is possible that Cox built it.

The house is frame, standing on a brick foundation. It is 2 stories high and has an A-roof.. The plan has one room on either side of a center hall. There is only one chimney, located at the west end of the house.

Across the front of the house is a two story, 4 columned, portico with a small circular window in the gable. Under the portico, at the second floor, center window, is a balcony.

South of the house is a small brick meat house which is probably the most interesting feature of the property. The meathouse has a hip roof on a square plan. The smoke vent at the peak of the roof is disguised as a birdhouse. There is a door on the north side of the building. There are no vents in the brick walls. The cornice is formed by a cobelling of the top courses of brick. The building resembles, in its style and in the quality of the brick, the dependencies at Cloverlea (#133 on survey) in Mago Vista. One story is that the builder of Cloverlea had this house, and another one, farther east on Jones Station Road, built for his daughters. There is no substantiation to this story.

The building is now owned by the Anne Arundel Community College and occupied by an employee.
