DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Resting on brick piers and facing west, this large two and one half story frame house is five bays wide by two bays deep, with a full-height ell extending to the rear from the southeast corner. The building is clad in aluminum siding, with asphalt shingles covering the roof. The entrance is located in the central bay of the west facade, and features tall sash sidelights. Two 6/6 windows appear on either side of the entrance, with five such windows arrayed across the second story, aligned over the first-floor openings. A smaller 6/6 window in the central cross gable lights the half-story. The molded cornice has short returns at the gables, and the gables project very slightly. A half-hipped porch with chamfered posts and scrollwork brackets spans the facade.

Matching corbeled brick chimneys exit from the roof ridge north of the central bay and at the point where the ell joins the main block.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This is an unusually large example of the typical Maryland center-gable house form. The front section and ell appear to have been constructed as a unit.
