DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE
This large building, now a supermarket, was originally a row of four individual town houses (1860's vintage) which has been altered nearly beyond recognition. The only remaining indication of the original configuration of buildings is the three story, three bay wide, left bay of the building. Constructed of brick, the five bay first floor has a wide, recessed central entrance with flanking shop windows, partially filled with aluminum siding surmounted by a window of a double row of ten small lights. An asbestos shingled prnt-roff (c, 1960) runs above the windows. The second level has a broken series of double-hung windows with 8/8 lights, with segmental brick arches and stone sills, and it is clear that several original windows have been filled in. An applied wooden mouse-tooth cornice runs above these windows and is surmounted by a brick parapet. The three story bay on the left of the building has the same windows as those on the second floor, but these are filled with wooden louvres.
