Notable features:

Numbers 120-126, though vacant and 122 is burned out, form a remarkable group of well-proportioned facades and should be rebuilt if possible. Numbers 128-130, shop and dwellings, have original woodwork and cornices. The whole group has extensive and debilitated back buildings. Number 130 has an interesting series of back buildings on Lexington Street, 2 and 2½ stories, which should be rehabilitated.

Environmental context:

All are vacant. Lexington Terrace homes are opposite. Row faces Fremont Avenue, which is a heavily travelled street, noisy and dirty. Street trees are needed.
