Notable features:

Only number 5 appears on the 1896 map. Number 7 would seem to have been constructed shortly after 1896 and in the same style as number 5. Both may have been in some way attached to the Moore Institute. These houses are in good repair and should, if possible, be kept unless effective reuse of the adjacent sites to the north demands their demolition.

Environmental context:

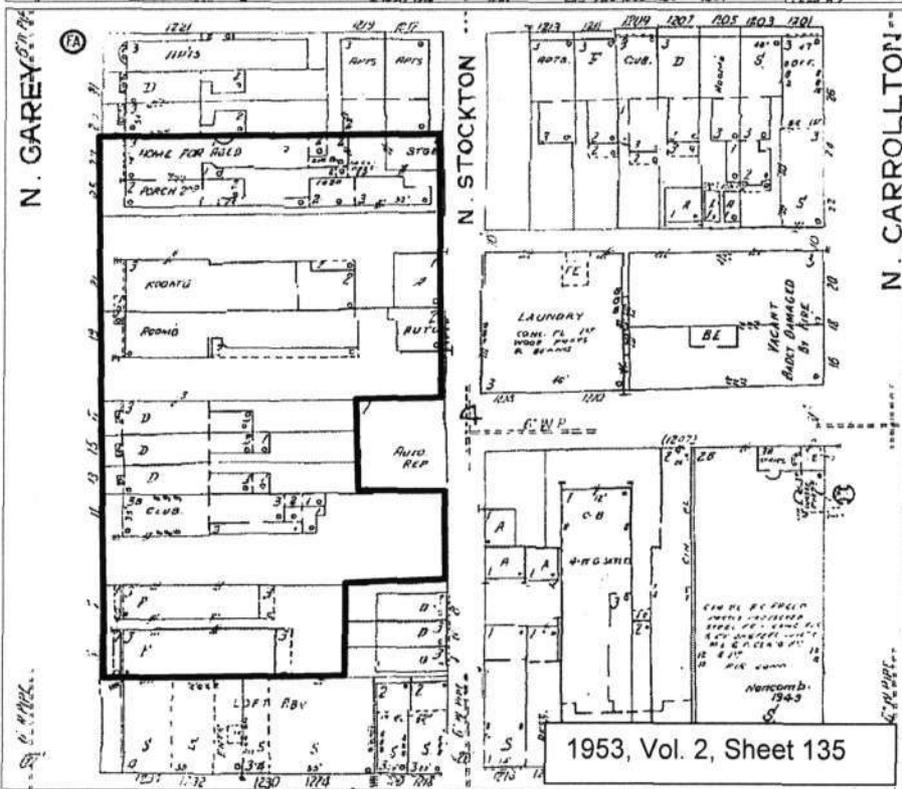

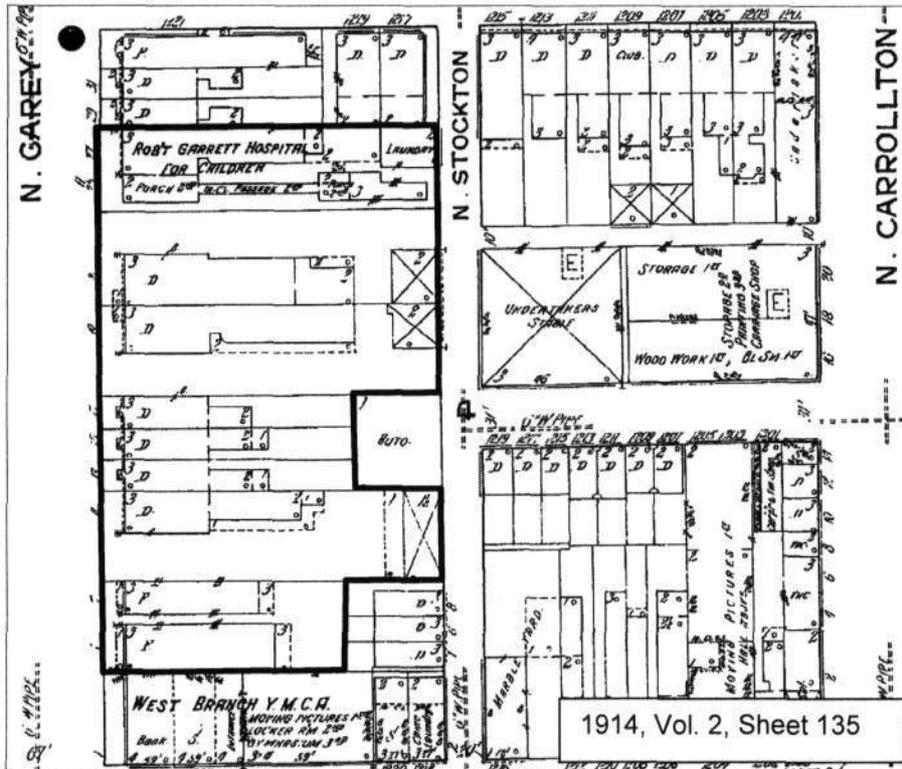

Lots at 11-27 N. Carey have been cleared. The scale of these houses stands up well to the larger scale of the adjacent Moore Institute building. The cleared lots on their north side, however, leave them in a somewhat equivocal position. Large street trees are needed.
