Notable features:

Number 801 (lot 1) is a corner store building; modern but could be rehabilitated and kept as visual anchor at corner, and for commercial use. Numbers 809-871 (lots 1A-1L), the kinds of uses, parking and servicing of large vehicles, damages block 238 and dwellings on the south side of block 220 and potential reuse of 10-16 S. Fremont Avenue. If possible, alteration of present use is advocated; if not feasible, then visual protection by fences, planting and limitation of truck activity should be arranged.

The C & P Telephone Co. has a one-story garage and storage building at 811/823 and a vending machine sales and service company has a one-story building at 829/857 with mostly open parking for its vehicles.

Environmental context:

The "detrimental" rating alludes to current use. The absence of pedestrian activity from the uses on this side of the street has probably contributed to the steady downfall of the buildings and uses on the north side of Baltimore Street. This is one of the most visually gappy street facades in Poppleton; if it is to stay, a major design program must be implemented to make it in some way palatable.
