Private access

The south side of the 100 block of E. Cross St. is one of the most interesting blocks in the southern section of Federal Hill, containing as it does almost every variety of house type built in the area between the 1840's and the 1880's. At 139-143 E. Cross St., at the eastern end of the block, there is a row of late Victorian style, two story, two bay wide brick houses with shed roofs and bracketed cornices. The houses, which sit on high basements, with basement kitchens, were built just before 1880. To the west, at 137 E. Cross St. there is a similar two story, two bay wide brick house with shed roof, but with no extant roof cornice, built about the same time. 135 and 133 E. Cross St. have been torn down, but at 131 E. Cross there is a two and a half story, two bay wide, late Federal style brick house located next to a pair of similar two and a half story frame houses at 127-129 E. Cross St. The survival of a frame house in this section of the city is quite unusual. All three houses seem to have been built in the 1840's or 1850's. Continuing west, one encounters a pair of two story plus attic, two bay wide brick houses at 123-125 E. Cross St., built about 1850; a late Victorian style, two story, three bay wide brick house with shed roof and bracketed cornice at 121 E. Cross St., an 1880's remodeling of an original 1840's house; and, at 117-119 E. Cross St., a pair of originally two story, two bay wide gable-roofed houses built in the mid 1840's, one of which (117) has since been enlarged and is now three stories in height with a shed roof and bracketed cornice. At 113-115 E. Cross St. there is another pair of two story plus attic brick houses, built in the mid 1840's by John S. Gittings, and at 111 E. Cross St. there is a two story, two bay wide gable-roofed house built by Gittings in the early 1850's. Further west, at 109 E. Cross St. there is yet another two story plus attic house, followed by a pair of two and a half story, two bay wide, late Federal style brick houses at 105-107 E. Cross St., and then another two story plus attic house at 103 E. Cross St. The four latterly described houses were all built in the early 1840's by William Addison, a local house carpenter. At 124-126 Weber St., there is a pair of two story, two bay wide brick houses with shed roofs and bracketed cornices, built in 1872 by Charles and Augustus Weber, leaders of the German community in Baltimore at this time. The houses are the only survivors of an original row of such houses built along the north side of Weber St. at this time.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This two story brick house with gable roof was built in the 1840's as part of the gradual development of this side of Cross St., which already had several pairs of two story houses on it by 1822. The house has been covered with formstone.

The house is two stories in height, 14' wide, and occupies a lot 103' deep. The house is two rooms deep and there is a two story high, four bay deep rear addition. The house is constructed in running bond but the facade has been covered with formstone. The low-pitched gable roof is covered with tarpaper and has a two-tier brick cornice, also covered with formstone. There is a single hooded chimney located along the rear roof gable on the west side of the house.

Although the original treatment of the door and window lintels and sills cannot be determined because of the formstone covering, it is apparent that the first floor openings had segmentally arched brick lintels with solid wood tympanums and that the second floor openings had flat lintels. The sills are currently brick header sills, but these may be contemporary with the formstone covering. All of the window openings are filled with 1/1 double hung sash. There is a modern flush door set beneath a single light transom which has been covered with aluminum. The house sits on a fairly high basement, the entrance being reached by three brick steps. A rectangular basement opening is located to the right of the steps.
