

# 519 York Road

That the east and west sides of York Road have continuously been a vital commercial center in Towson for over a century is demonstrated by this building and its neighbors. Other buildings on the street document turn of the century styles of commercial buildings, while others document modern techniques. Number 519 is significant as one of the indications of commercial buildings circa 1920. This building and two others with similar rooflines are the last remaining documents for the '20's influence on the business district of York Road.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

519 York Road is a two story brick building. It now sits flush with number 517 to the south and fronts an alley to the north. The alley has been enclosed. The east facade is now covered by a modern store front which encompasses both numbers 519 and 517. Behind this front can still be seen the earlier facade of number 519. The roof line of this facade is typical of a style used in the 1920's:

On the north facade, the cornice is formed by brick dentils which are an integral part of the wall. The west facade is only visible on the second story since adjoining buildings have been built on ground level. This facade appears to cover both numbers 519 and 517. The roof is gently pitched with a gabled end. A projection of an adjoining building reaches up to the second story and takes up the southern half of the facade. On the northern end is a bricked in window with a round arch. No original fabric remains on the first floor. Permission to record the second floor has not yet been obtained. There is a full basement of uncoursed stone. There are newer brick buttresses and brick patching on the walls.
