The West Catonsville neighborhood is significant under Criterion C as an element which is integral to a potentially eligible historic district comprised of the architectural resources of the town of Catonsville. This district represents residential and commercial architecture significant as a typical, intact example of the Baltimore area's development of both stylistic and vernacular buildings over the period of the latter half of the 19th century through the early 20th century. The Winter's Lane section of the West Catonsville neighborhood is additionally important for local significance as the black community first settled in the late 1860s by freed blacks and continuously associated with this community's development. The architecture of the area centering on Winter's Lane comprises modest frame houses of various vernacular forms dating from the last quarter of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth. The house at 907 Edmondson Avenue is related to the Winter's Lane area through location, design, setting and materials. It is a modest, frame, gable-roofed house.
