Whye House
Western Run - Belfast
Rd. Historic District
Not accessible
1898-1903

In 1903, Warren H. Powell, colored, leased this house from Edward G. Wheeler and his wife for 25 years at the rate of $7.50 per annum and $25 cash. Mrs. Wheeler had inherited the land from William Gent and presumably had had the house erected sometime shortly before, since it does not appear on the 1898 Bromley Atlas. It is a modest dwelling intended for the use of a farmer or artisan tenant and it has remained in the Powell family up to the present time, having been sold to them in 1906.

 DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Whye House is a two-storey, two-bay frame house, its principal facade to the west; extending east behind its north end is a one-bay rear wing, also two bays in height and otherwise of form identical to that of the front portion of the house. A one-storey flat-roofed porch extends across the west facade. One-storey shed-roofed additions extend from the south and east sides of this house, preceded by a two-storey shed-roofed addition filling the corner formed by the main house and its original east wing. All exterior surfaces are covered with asphalt shingle and windows are 2/2 with all panes horizontal. Some windows in the one-storey additions are 6/6. A single-flue brick chimney rises from the middle of the principal section.

The interior of this house was not examined. It probably dates from the very end of the 19th century.
