The vertical files may include newspaper clippings, field notes, draft versions of forms and architectural reports, photographs, maps, and drawings. Researchers who need a thorough understanding of this property should plan to visit the MHT Library as part of their research project; look at the MHT web site (mht.maryland.gov) for details about how to make an appointment.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This granite random laid church features rectangular casement windows with stone frames and lintels. The southern entrance facade is divided into 2 sections by a buttressed right offset front gable with a continuous gable roof and by a low hipped western roof.

The right front facade holds 2 groups of 4 windows joined by common sills and lintels. A water table runs across the entire facade, separating the basement casement windows with stone lintels. A single window rests in the gable apex.

The left front gable is 2 bays wide. Two groups of identical tripartite windows fill the left bay. To the right is a compounded stone entrance with modern aluminum and glass doors surmounted by a bipartite window grouping.

A series of projections defines the west facade, which carries windows in a 1-1-3-2 arrangement at both upper and lower levels. The southernmost bay carries a modern back-lighted sign with "First United Church" in large capital letters.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Built about 1925 along Jacobethan Revival lines, this church lacks many of the common details that would readily identify it as an ecclesiastical structure.
