Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

This house is associated with the contractor's office next door, but it was built several decades later, around 1930. It faces east onto Old Town Road. It is a big one-and-a-half-story, framed and weatherboarded house with a three-bay facade composed of two one-over-one windows and an entrance with sidelights. The placement of the door at the northeast end of the house indicates a side-passage plan. The gable roof is covered with decoratively molded sheet metal. There is a brick chimney located in the center of the building and on the front plane of the roof. This is one of those bungalow-inspired houses that is actually two full stories high, (and looks like two full stories on the gable-end walls) but the upper story is illuminated by a broad three-bay shed dormer on the front of this house, giving it the appearance of a cottage-like, story-and-a-half dwelling. On the front of the house, the gable roof kicks out to become a shed roof for the front porch. The porch is supported by pairs of square tapering piers. There is a one-story shed-roofed rear extension, and a gable-roofed one-story projection on the south gable end. Both of these may be part of the original period of construction, or they are early additions.
