This five-bay I-house faces west onto Calvert Street at the intersection with A Street. Constructed of wood framing and originally covered with weatherboards, the house is now coated with a layer of stucco. Original features of the house include a front-facing gable centered over the main entrance, a two-story polygonal bay on the south gable end, a one-story hipped-roof porch, and a two-story two-bay rear ell. The rear ell is extended by a hyphen that connects the original house to a new two-story north wing. All window sash and most other trim has been altered in the process of transforming this structure into a bed and breakfast establishment. It dates from the late nineteenth century.
