Lee Brick House
Hillsboro
Private

Circa 1794

Standing on the corner of Maryland Alternate Route 404 and Church Lane in Hillsboro is a five-bay two-story brick residence built in the last decade of the 18th Century. The three western-most bays are laid in Flemish bond on the North facade and the remainder, including the late two bays, are laid in common bond. In form and development, it is identical to Rees Corner House, Kent County, although this house has its kitchen wing to the rear whereas the Kent County house is to the side. Most of the building was remodeled around 1870 including the interior and especially the entrance door.

The south side of Maryland Alternate Route 404 was owned around 1790 by John Hardcastle (of Talbot County) who subdivided the land into building lots. William Smith, merchant, purchased the lot and probably began building the present dwelling around 1794.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Lee Brick House is located at the southeast corner of Maryland Alternate Route 404's intersection with Church Lane in the village of Hillsboro, Caroline County. The present owner's research indicates that the structure was probably built in 1794, and was enlarged to five bays around 1798.

The house is a two story brick dwelling with Flemish bond and struck joints on the main (north) facade of the original section and common bond elsewhere. The original section was a side entrance plan of the three bays now located on the west. The addition created a symmetrical five bay facade with a central doorway. The interior has a central hall way containing the staircase, a single room to each side of the hall, and a frame service ell on the east rear. The interior woodwork is all from a remodeling in the 1860-70's period. The windows on the main facade are 2/2 pane sash and the door and door cornice are Victorian style. The bays of the main facade have brick flat arches of vertical stretchers. Interior chimney stacks are at each gable end. Two dormers are on the north side of the roof of the original section.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The south side of Maryland Alternate Route 404 in Hillsboro was owned by John Hardcastle. He divided the land into building lots and the site of the Lee Brick House was one of the first sold. William Smith, merchant, purchased the lot and, according to the present owner's research, probably built the house in 1794 and the addition in 1798. It is a fine example of the Federal style of Architecture as produced in Caroline County.

The present owners have named the house "Sursum Corda" (lift up your hearts).
