Justification for decision: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map)

The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm, located south of Taneytown in rural Carroll County, MD, and consisting of a small farm complex, is not considered eligible for individual listing on the National Register of Historic Places. The property is outside of a potential Taneytown Historic District; however, along with other farmsteads in the vicinity, the property could contribute to a potential rural historic district. At this point, no examination of the area for rural historic district designation has taken place.

The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm consists of a frame farmhouse, frame summer kitchen, and a small modern shed located on a .82-acre lot. The farmhouse is a two-story, frame T-house built ca. 1870. It is set upon a low foundation, is covered with a cross gable roof and has inside end chimneys. The walls are clad with vinyl siding and windows are the original 2/2 sash. The summer kitchen is a one-story, front gable building with a single-story porch running across the facade.

Although the house and summer kitchen provide a representative example of a late 19th-century domestic complex, the property no longer retains sufficient integrity to qualify for listing on the Register under Criteria A or C. The farm originally consisted of approximately 130 acres and consisted of 38 acres until 1966 when the .82 parcel was sold separately from the rest of the parcel. The house and summer kitchen, are therefore, strictly a fragment of the original farm, which may have included agricultural buildings. The dwelling, itself, is a common late 19th-century form and lacks the architectural distinctiveness necessary to qualify for listing under Criterion C.

The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm consists of a frame farmhouse, frame summer kitchen, and a small modern shed. Although the house and outbuildings presently stand on a 0.82 lot, they retain their historic rural context as they are still surrounded by agricultural fields. The farm house is a "T" shaped building constructed ca. 1870. The house is covered with aluminum siding, and a slate roof. The house retains its original window sash, and a original one-story porch linking the main block of the house with the side wing. The porch on the facade remains intact with the exception of a modern balustrade. A one-story porch on the east elevation has been enclosed, but retains its original proportions. To the northeast of the house stands a frame summer kitchen. The building is a one-story, gable-front, frame building sided with weatherboarding. The building has a one-story porch across the facade. The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm appears to be eligible for inclusion on the National Register of Historic Places under Criterion C. The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm is a well-preserved and representative example of late nineteenth-century vernacular architecture. The house and summer kitchen retain their historic appearance and context as well as retaining the integrity of location, design, materials and, workmanship.

The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm consists of a frame farmhouse, frame summer kitchen, and a small modern shed. Although the house and outbuildings presently stand on a 0.82 lot, they retain their historic rural context as they are still surrounded by agricultural fields.

The farm house is a "T" shaped building constructed ca. 1870 which faces north, toward the road. The house is covered with aluminum siding, and a slate roof. The house retains its original window sash, and a original one-story porch linking the main block of the house with the side wing. The porch on the facade remains intact with the exception of a modern balustrade. A one-story porch on the east elevation has been enclosed, but retains its original proportions.

To the northeast of the house stands a frame summer kitchen. The building is a one-story, gable-front, frame building sided with weatherboarding. The building has a one-story porch across the facade.

Prepare both a summary paragraph of significance and a general statement of history and support.

The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm is a well-preserved and representative example of late nineteenth-century vernacular architecture. The house and summer kitchen retain their historic appearance and context.

The J. Slaughenhaupt Farm is part of the land grant, "Resurvey on Brother's Agreement." The farmhouse does not appear on the 1862 map of Carroll County, but it is shown on the 1877 map as owned by J. Slaughenhaupt (Simon J. Martenet, "Martenet's Map of Carroll County" Baltimore: Simon J. Martenet, 1862; Illustrated Map of Carroll County (Philadelphia: Lake, Griffing & Stevenson, 1877). The house appears to date to ca. 1870.

H.J. Hildebrick purchased the property during the late nineteenth century as part of his acquisition of over 130 acres of land in the area. At H.J. Hildebrick's death, the house with just over 38 acres was sold at public auction in October 1925 to Charles E. Heck (Carroll County Orphans Court Records, Book W.A. 9: 283). Heck sold the property to Charles R. Hilterbrick in November 1925 (Carroll County Land Record Book 146: 317). Charles Hilterbrick held onto the farm until 1929 when he sold the house and land to John Maurice Angell (CCLRB 152: 205). The farm remained in Angell family until 1950 when it was sold to C. Wilbur and Dorothy E. Stonesifer (CCLRB 160: 527; 204: 452). The Stonesifers created a 0.82 acre lot in 1966 which included the ca. 1870 farmhouse. (CCLRB 415: 12). The property changed ownership five times between 1966 and 1993 when the present owners acquired the house and lot (CCLRB 523: 307,; 529: 350; 624: 277; 772: 17; 1507: 653).
