CARR-190 David Stouffer House

3440 Uniontown Road appears to predate 1814 when the lot was sold by David Kephart to David Stouffer for $250. If the development of this lot follows the typical pattern for Uniontown, a price of $250 means that some improvements were on the lot, such as a small log house. Within two years, Stouffer encased and enlarged the structure to its present design with its brick facade. Then Stouffer sold the parcel in 1816 to Peter Senseney for $1600. Of particular note is the double cornice consisting of a lower section of projecting header bricks in a dentil pattern and an upper section in a sawtooth pattern. Dr. J.J. Weaver, Jr., in the "History of Uniontown," describes this as the building where Peter Senseney kept his store during the 1820-30s.

The two buildings remained under one ownership until 1848 when Samuel Lauver, who was principal at the Uniontown Academy, sold 3440 Uniontown Road to Hezekiah Yingling and 3444 Uniontown Road to Harrison H. Weaver.
