443 SULLIVAN ROAD

Essig House

mid-19th century

Westminster vicinity

private

443 Sullivan Road is an early log structure built into a slight slope along West Branch. The house has been covered by a vertical board siding, but its long, low profile and centrally-located chimney stack provide exterior evidence of its early age. It is shown as the J. Essig residence on the 1862 map and as the Jacob Little residence on the 1877 map.
