DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Bradford-Pleasanton House is another 2½ story frame I-House that was probably built in the third quarter of the 19th century. The house is very similar to its immediate neighbor (Pennington-Collins CE- ). The house faces south with its primary gable running east/west.

The typical center hall single pile with ell kitchen rests on a fieldstone foundation. The balloon frame is covered with composition tile over weatherboards. The steeply pitched roof is also covered with a comp tile shingle.

The south (main) facade is three bays across with central entrance and flanking 4/4 sash. The second floor is the same with the addition of a central double sash on the second floor. The cross gable also has a double 4/4 sash. The eaves are extended and the soffits sloped. The gable ends are similar with one or two ~~two~~ 2/2 SASH ON EACH FLOOR attic lights that flank the stove stacks. A closed-in front porch covers the first floor.

The two story rear kitchen wing is two bays across with 6/6 sash windows and a closed in side porch.

The interior has lasted with a good deal of its late 19th century woodwork. Molded door surrounds frame six panel doors. The parlor mantel have simple pilasters with chamfered corners, a scrolled frieze, bed molding, and curved mantel shelf. The rest of the interior woodwork follows along the same design.
