Prepare both a one paragraph summary and a comprehensive description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The Skinner Rental House is located in Cecil County, within the Fair Hill N.R.M.A., and at 2583 Appleton Road. It is to the south of the Mason Dixon line, on the west side of Appleton Road, to the north of Maryland route 273, and to the east of Maryland route 213. This property consists of a brick house, and a wood frame barn.

The house is three stories tall, "L"-shaped, and three bays wide by two bays deep. It is constructed of brick with a one story frame addition on the south facade. The rear section is two stories tall and two bays wide. The roof is flat, with wood eaves shaped downwards to suggest that the roof has a slight pitch, and chimneys located at various points on the roof. Windows on the first two stories are 6/6 sashes, while on the third story they are 3/6 sashes. Window casing is made of wood with the top head elaborated slightly. The exterior front entrance is made up of a plain, open, front porch that has turned posts holding up the shed roof.

The barn has a stone foundation, and vertical wood siding covering the exterior facades. On the south facade of the barn is a half story shed addition. The roofing material is tin.

These structures are in excellent condition and are still in use as rental property by the Department of Natural Resources.

Evaluation for:

National Register Maryland Register not evaluated

Prepare a one-paragraph summary statement of significance addressing applicable criteria, and a narrative discussion of the history of the resource and its context. (For compliance reports, discuss evaluation on a DOE Form - see manual).

This house appears to date from the late Nineteenth century, and is significant architecturally. Most of the structures from this area and time period are constructed of stone or frame, while this one is entirely brick. It has a form that suggests it is a townhouse design.
