The Providence School was originally a church used by the Christian and Missionary Alliance. It was purchased in 1910 for use as a school. It is a frame building one story in height tow bays long by three bays deep. The roof has a steep pitch and wooden shingles. The facade has a central entrance with three light transom. Above the door and transom is a large three pane window. The rest of the windows have 6/6 sash and had panelled shutters. Between the second and first bays on the west wall is a small brick chimney. The school has a stone foundation. In 1941 it was sold and converted into a house.
