DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Haines -Reynolds Flint Pit is believed to be the site of and Indian worked flint quarry. It is on the side of a corn field. Due to the fact that the area has been actively farmed for roughly 260 years the site has been altered. A great deal of flint can be found in this part of the field as well as artifacts such as arrowhead

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Haines-Reynolds Flint Pit is a possible archeological dig site due to its proximity to roads and protection from tresspassers. The site has been disturbed by farming. activities, but perhaps could reveal pertinent information. Due to the lay of the land it does not seem improbable that a village site could be found nearby.

Further and more qualified investigation needs to be carried out on this site.
