

D-203
Cullen House
Church Creek
Private

Late 19th century

The Cullen House, like a few other houses in the area, was moved from across the creek, probably to take advantage of the direct road running from Church Creek to Cambridge. It is composed of two separately built rooms, one with a corner stair, the other with exposed beaded joists and floorboards.

See Church Creek, Vol. IV

11x1-94

50% D-203

203

Cullen House