DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Down a long lane of cedar trees stands a small one and one-half story frame structure which is composed of two sections. According to the occupant, Mr. Woolon, the smaller portion was built about 150 years ago and the larger part about 100 years ago, which may be true.

It is built on brick piers. Within the west gable is a brick chimney and in the middle of the larger portion, which is east of the reputedly earlier portion, in the center of that building is a smaller brick chimney. From the position of the chimneys of the house there would appear that there are three rooms, each room having a window and a door. The walls are covered with weatherboard in poor condition. It has a steep-pitched roof. From the south side of the larger portion is a single dormer window. On the south side of the smaller portion is a hood over the entrance.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This structure is not particularly outstanding architecturally, except that it is the form most commonly seen in the lower part of the County, of which few remain in this north east corner of Dorchester.
