This is an L shaped two and one half story frame house with a gabled roof. On the front are three bays, across which is a one story porch, and to the west of this a gabled wing projecting toward the street. On the front of this wing is a two story bay window. Between the first and second story of the bay window is a ornamental corbelling with imbricated shingles. ## STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This is a fairly ornate example of vernacular architecture of the late 19th century. It is located in a neighborhood with many large, architecturally interesting examples of late 19th century architecture. It is in need of paint, but could be an attractive dwelling. The basic style of this house is similar to many on Locust Street of the same era.
