DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Constructed of brick, this is a small narrow commercial structure of two stories. The second story remains unaltered and has a projecting cornice, supported by two carved brackets, with pierced ornamentation. There are two tall narrow rectangular windows on the second story, which share a common flat arch above. The second story brick has been painted yellow, and the original first story brick has been replaced by a newer brown brick. The original openings on the first story have been replaced by a twentieth century door and large glass window. Above the door, and also above and below the window, are recessed corbeled rectangles.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This building is an example of a small, fairly simple office building of the late 19th century. Although the first story has been altered, it could be restored to an approximation of its original appearance. Painting the bottom half of the building yellow to match the upper story would help to unify the appearance of the facade.
