DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Adamstown Bank is a one story brick building laid in common bond which faces east from the west side of New Design Road in Adamstown.

The principle facade is three bays wide. The main entrance, a paneled door which has been boarded shut with one light transom and bracketed hood entrance is located in the second bay. It is set in a shallow alcove with copper ceiling.

Occupying the remaining two bays are boarded window openings with keystone lintels and concrete sills. Two decorative narrow rectangular stone pieces are located over the windows.

A rectangular sign with missing letters once indicated Adamstown Bank.

The building is two bays deep with two large Victorian arched window openings with triple header arches located in each bay. The building is covered by a flat tin roof with stepped front gable. The entire structure is built on a brick foundation with stretcher bond course.
