George Culler House
Feagaville
Private Residence

1902

The George Culler House is one of several fine Carpenter Gothic residences built in Feagaville by retiring farmers at the turn of the nineteenth century.

By 1906, George Culler who according to his daughter was a carpenter had built the existing two and one-half story Carpenter Gothic residence and in the same year sold it to Sarah Hargett for $350.00.

A very decorative one story porch extends across the front of the building. The porch, which is covered by a standing seam tin flat roof, is supported by four full and two half turned columns with decorative "sunburst" style brackets, dropped pendants, and scallop decoration along the cornice. The front gable is covered with decorative wood shingling in fishscale, sawtooth and diamond patterning. A 1/1 Gothic window is centered in the gable. An ornate bargeboard decorates the front gable.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The George Culler House is a two and one-half story ell shaped cross gabled frame house which faces west from the east side of Feagaville Lane in Feagaville.

The principal facade is three bays wide. The main entrance, an original four panel door with upper arched panels and unusually wide three light transom is located in the second bay. The entrance is surrounded by a multipaned glass and frame enclosure.

Double hung 2/2 windows set into arched molded openings and flanked by louvered shutters are located in the first and third bays on the first level and each bay on the second level.

A very decorative one story porch extends across the front of the building. The porch, which is covered by a standing seam tin flat roof, is supported by four full and two half turned columns with decorative "sunburst" style brackets, dropped pendants, and scallop decoration along the cornice. The front gable is covered with decorative wood shingling in fishscale, sawtooth and diamond patterning. A 1/1 Gothic window is centered in the gable. An ornate bargeboard decorates the front gable.

The main block of the building is two bays deep with windows identical to those in the front located in each bay. Unusually, only one window is located on the second level on the south gable end. A decorative gable identical to the front is located on the north and south ends of the building.

A two story original frame addition two bays wide extends to the northeast rear of the building. A two story open porch with plain beveled columns and flat board railing is located along the south side of the addition.

The entire building is constructed on a low random stone foundation covered with concrete.

The building is covered with a cross gable standing seam tin roof with boxed cornice and return. Two single interior corbeled chimneys rise from the north and east gable ends.
