Pleasant Hill
Myersville
Private

According to the deed, buildings were standing on the property as early as 1841 when William and Mary Brand and Daniel Keller sold the farm to John Michael Altman for $375.00. The 1858 Bond Map of Frederick County shows a residence on the site inhabited by D. Main.

In 1865 Altman and Daniel Main sold the property to John Cline for $1,340.00. The house is indicated on the 1873 map identified as J. Kline. The farm remained in the Cline family until 1958.

A banked two story stone and log outbuilding believed to have been used as a summer kitchen and servants quarters is located fifty yards northeast of the main house. The building although in disrepair is in good condition. The building is three bays wide and one bay deep. The first level is constructed of coursed fieldstone which appears to have originally been stuccoed and whitewashed. Replaced vertical plank doors are located in the first and third bays and flank a window opening now partially covered by wood slats.

Also located on the premises are a whitewashed fieldstone spring-house and coursed stone smokehouse with revolving post ham hanger and vertical plank door with long hand wrought strap hinges.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Pleasant Hill, a two and one-half story coursed fieldstone house with numerous outbuildings is banked against a hill and sheltered in a hollow facing west from the west side of Myersville/Middletown Road near Myersville.

The principal facade is three bays wide. A three bay wide frame addition built in 1978 is attached to the south gable end of the original house block.

The main entrance, a replaced cross brick door with original wood lintel is located in the first bay from the north end of the building on the first level. A replaced six panel door with original plain wood lintel and three light transom is located in the second bay of the second level and enters onto an open porch. Occupying the remaining bays on the first and second levels are original double hung pegged 6/6 sash with plain wood lintels. A replaced two story open porch with eight boxed columns supporting the porch extends across the front of the residence. A plain straight railing encloses the porch on the second level.

The residence is two bays deep. A small opening is located in the first bay from the northeast corner of the building.

Original double hung 6/6 windows with plain wood lintels occupy the remaining three bays on the first and second levels of the north gable end. Two small four pane windows with plain wood lintels occupy the gable on the north end. Long narrow quoins extend inward from the corners of the building.

Two single brick chimneys rise from the north and south gable ends of the building. The residence is covered by a replaced asphalt flank gable roof and is built on a low banked coursed stone foundation.

Most of the interior woodworking has been replaced, however a simple railing at the top of the stairway and two paneled doors remain intact.

The first level of the house is an open room approximately 9' x 20' with a large cooking fireplace on the north end.

A closed narrow stairway rises diagonally toward the north gable wall to the second level. The second level of the residence contains three rooms. A small room where the stairs enter which also contains a tightwinder staircase to the attic. The front part of the second level is divided equally into two small rooms. A very small fireplace is located in the center of the south gable end of the building.

7. DESCRIPTION

Also located on the premises of the farm and of equal importance to the house are a group of supporting outbuildings.

A banked two story stone and log outbuilding believed to have been used as a summer kitchen and servants quarters is located fifty yards northeast of the main house. The building although in disrepair is in good condition. The building is three bays wide and one bay deep. The first level is constructed of coursed fieldstone which appears to have originally been stuccoed and whitewashed. Replaced vertical plank doors are located in the first and third bays and flank a window opening now partially covered by wood slats.

The second level is two bays wide with a window opening in the first bay and door covered by a replaced vertical plank door. A replaced plain wood porch extends across the front of the building on the south side. A window opening is located on each level of the building on the east and west gable ends. The building is covered by a corrugated tin roof with frame gables.

The interior of the building is whitewashed with massive fireplaces located on each level.

Also located on the premises are a whitewashed fieldstone springhouse and coursed stone smokehouse with revolving post ham hanger and vertical plank door with long hand wrought strap hinges.

A frame bank barn built on a fieldstone foundation built in the first quarter of the twentieth century on the foundation of an earlier barn is also located on the premises.
