DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Walter Riley House is located several yards from Devil's Half Acre Road, near US Route 48. The ground drops sharply to the SE, causing the facade elevation and porch to be supported on brick piers.

The house is a two-story, gable-roofed dwelling measuring three bays across the facade and two bays on the side elevations. The facade points SE.

The house rests on a coursed stone foundation and is covered with German siding which is severely weathered. Most windows are two over two sash. although several on the NE and NW elevations are one over one sash. On the SW elevation the first floor windows have been replaced with larger modern sliding glass windows. Except for these, all windows have cornices and plain board surrounds. The attic windows on the SW gable end is a single, round headed pane with a wooden hoodmould. The facade door is set into the westernmost bay of the facade. All main doors have transoms and symmetrically moulded trim with cornerblocks. All trim is painted red.

The roof is covered with standing seam metal and has a frieze of vertically-placed boards. There are two brick stove chimneys: an exterior chimney on the NE elevation and an interior chimney at the SW gable end.

A one-story, hipped-roof porch runs the length of the facade. The porch roof is covered with standing seam metal and is supported by turned posts. A plain balustrade of vertical posts runs between the posts. On the NW elevation is a one-story, shed-roofed porch which has been enclosed at the western end. One turned post and four square posts support the corrugated-metal roof.

The interior of the house is unknown.

To the S of the house is a frame bank barn resting on a stone foundation. The barn is covered with vertical boards.
