DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Park H. Opel House is located approximately .1 mile W of Foxtown Road on a road which leads to a strip mine. The strip mine is not visible from the house, being obscured by trees. The land around the house has been cleared. The site includes a frame barn.

The house is a two-story gable-roofed dwelling with an irregular facade. The facade points SE. A one-story shed porch covers the facade and NE gable end.

The house rests on a low stone foundation and is covered with brown brick-patterned asphalt siding. The windows are sash, with varying numbers of lights; six over six, two over two, and one over one lights are represented. The house has two doors: one in the center of the facade (SE elevation) and one just left of center on the NW elevation.

The roof is covered with corrugated metal. The house has one exterior free-standing brick stove chimney attached to the porch on the NE gable end.

On the facade, the SW side of the shed porch has been filled in to create an extra room. The porch has also been filled in on the NE gable end, and a small gable addition has been attached to the N corner of the porch.

The interior plan of the house consists basically of two rooms with a center stair. The house seems to be in seasonal use.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This house is an example of the smaller farmhouse type found in Garrett County. The extra rooms added to the SE and NE elevations show one type of expansion practiced by the small householder.
