DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

22 East Center Street is a slightly more worn version of the cottage style dwelling associated with Garrett County, and is close to #4 and #28 East Liberty Street, one block away. This example, like 4 East Liberty Street, is of vertical board and batten construction, but has been left unpainted (it has been stained) and allowed to weather. There is, however, no decorative ornament -- no bay windows or porches -- as found on the East Liberty Street examples. There is a large ell to the rear and the house is built on an almost full-storey stone base.

[Notice this house's neighbor, #20 Center Street, also a version of the board and batten cottage].

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

A simpler version of the cottage style house discussed in #s 4, 22, and 28 East Liberty Street, 22 East Center Street is the type of cottage that developed with the resorts. Its is similar to two of the cottages still standing in the village of Deer Park, in that it is not painted, but stained -- this was, no doubt, to add to the building's rusticity and appeal to its 'Swiss' appearance. The unusually high basement would tend to support association with one of the early hotels, in that this must be in order to obtain a better view of the mountains beyond Oakland.
