Based upon the available information, the dwelling at 708 Reese Street in Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland is not located in the Oakland Historic District, nor is it eligible for individual listing on the National Register of Historic Places.

The dwelling is a two-story, three-bay building with a rear ell and covered with a cross gable roof. Presented in a vernacular Italianate style and built in the third quarter of the 19th century, the house is typical of domestic architecture of the period and style and lacks the architectural distinction and integrity necessary to qualify it for listing on the National Register under Criterion C.

The property is not known to have associations with persons or events significant to our past and is thus not eligible under Criteria A or B.
