GIBSON DOUBLE HOUSE
Havre de Grace, Md.

c. 1904

Built in 1904 in an eclectic, vernacular style combining Gothic Revival, second Empire and Italianate features, the Gibson Double House was originally a single family residence. Although somewhat altered, the picturesque quality of the structure is still evident.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

701/703 Ontario Street is a two story five bay by two bay frame dwelling with a mansard roof behind a center gable. A two story wing on the rear gives the structure a T-shape. The house, now a duplex, stands on a stone foundation. It is located on the corner of Ontario St. and N. Adams St., facing south. Both sections of the house are covered with white asbestos shingles. Two additions are connected to the rear wing, an enclosed porch on the east elevation and a one story shed on the west elevation.

An above grade five bay porch extends across the entire front elevation. It has a hipped roof with a bracketed cornice supported by turned posts on a balustrade. Spanning each of the bays is a delicate arch. Metal railing has been added to the porch steps and two bays on the east side of the porch have been screened in.

Windows are arranged evenly on the facade. There, as throughout the rest of the house, they have 1/1 light sash with wide board enframements. The attic gable, front elevation, contains a pointed arch window, and the two dormers in all elevations of the mansard roof have segmentally arched enframements.

The main entrance was in the center bay, front elevation. The door which has fairly elaborate Eastlake inspired moldings and hardware (knob and plate) consists of two horizontal panels below a pane of beveled glass. The modern glass and wood door west of it replaces an earlier window.

The main section has a slate mansard roof with a center gable rising in front of it. A brick chimney is at the center of the main section. The rear wing also has a slate roof.

The house has a yard on the rear and sides.
