This little shotgun house was built as a tenant house by Frank Hays Jacobs. Since he built only one house in the Hays Addition, it is possible it was for a family servant.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This small two and a half story shiplap sided shotgun house is at 127 Archer Street in the Town of Bel Air, Harford County, Maryland. It has a sheet metal gable roof and presents its blind gable to the street. It has a single story shed addition in back (east) and shed porches on plain posts at front and back. The windows are 6/6 double-hung sash except in the first story on the facade (west elevation). This window in the north bay is a long 2/4 extending all the way to the floor; it represents the house's only attempt at style, save for a narrow two pane transom over the door.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This small example of workingman's housing in the Hays Addition was built on lot # 49 probably shortly after Frank Hays Jacobs bought it from the Bel Air Land Company in 1887 (59/123).

The Hays Addition was subdivided from land in the estate of merchant Thomas Hays who died in 1861. Hays was Frank Hays Jacobs' grandfather. Since he only bought one lot in the addition, it is possible that this little house was built for a family servant rather than as a profit making venture.
