Description of Property and Eligibility Determination: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)

The property was most recently observed and photographed on January 17, 2003. Its condition was unchanged since the preparation of the Inventory Form for State Historic Sites Survey form in the library of the Maryland Historical Trust.

The property is described in, Maryland Historical Trust, Inventory Form For State Historic Sites Survey prepared by Natalie Shivers, Historic Site Surveyor with Harford County Historical District Commission, on March 1980. Following is a brief summary of that property description, as modified by site observations made January 17, 2003.

From the description, the stone springhouse has a gabled roofed (east to west), with stone exterior walls. The entrance is located on the west side and the remaining sides each have a window. West of the structure are the ruins of a part stone, part board and batten barn. In addition, the main house was originally described as being in good condition; however, it has been severely altered from its original state.

The property is not associated with any event or personage that would qualify it for eligibility under Criteria A or B, respectively. Although the buildings remain in relatively good condition and are representative examples of ancillary rural buildings of their age, their design and construction do not merit consideration for historic registration under terms of Criterion C. No known archaeological significance is associated with the property, making it ineligible for consideration under Criterion D.

Much of the context of the springhouse is altered or in ruins, and the integrity of that context has been destroyed. On its own, the springhouse is a structure of minor interest, but it lacks the distinctive qualities necessary for it to be considered eligible for registration under the terms of Criterion C: Design/Construction.

SUMMARY

HA-1534

Greenland-Maloy Springhouse
3336 Churchville Road
Aberdeen, Maryland 21001

The stone springhouse and the ruins of the board-and-batten and stone barn are remnants from the farm that belonged to Richard E. Greenland from 1882 until 1908 and, prior to that, to Mrs. Ann Greenland. The house itself, said to be the original residence, has been altered so drastically that it is unrecognizable as such. Another house that belonged on this farm, the Greenland-Swanner House (HA-1533) was moved closer to Churchville Road around 1908.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This one-story gable-roofed rubblestone structure is located on the north side of Churchville Road (Md. Rte. 22) west of Stepney Road.

The ridge line runs east-west and the entrance is located in the west end. Each side has one window, and a small square opening is located south of the door in the west end.

"A" West of this structure ^{are} ~~is~~ the ruins of a part stone, part board-and-batten barn.

The house itself looks as if it dates from an earlier time also, but has been remodeled so drastically that it is impossible to discern its original appearance.
