HA-338

Gover-Curry House
2015 Nobles Mill Rd.
Darlington, Md. 21034

The Gover-Curry house was built by members of the Gover family in the middle of the 19th century. At that time, the Govers owned the Mill, which first served as a saw and clover mill and then as a grist mill. The survival of the frame smokehouse with its original cedar shakes and the frame kitchen/playroom is worth noting.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This 1-1/2-story frame house, now covered with aluminum siding, is located on the north side of Nobles Mill Road, just west of the junction with East Nobles Mill Road.

Facing south and set on a raised stone foundation, the house, which is 5 (3 in the 2nd story) bays wide and 1 room deep, has a raked cornice and 2 chimneys in the north slope of the roof-brick on the east, stuccoed on the west. Although some windows have been altered, most have 2/2 sash and plain wide trim. The 2nd story knee windows on the south facade have 6 lights. A hipped-roof porch spans the center 3 bays of the south facade, which has a center entrance with a transom.

The interior has a center hall plan. Although superficially re-modelled, most of the original trim with a complex beaded central band is extant, as is the fireplace mantel in the east room. The latter has a cornice composed of a series of progressively recessed bands, slightly projecting, corner blocks containing recessed panels, and, flanking the brick opening, pilasters containing single oblong recessed panels.

There are 4 outbuildings of historic interest adjacent to the house. East of the house is a gable-roofed stone springhouse with a trough inside. The sawn roof rafters are butted together.

North of the house is a frame clapboard smoke-house with a hipped roof with cedar shakes.

North of the smokehouse is a 1-1/2-story, gable-roofed board and batten shed with a partially-finished interior. There are 2 entrances in the south side- a large, garage size opening on the west leading to an unfinished storage area and a door on the east leading to a room with a staircase. The latter is also reached by a door in the east end. One interior brick chimney is visible from the exterior, a second one in the north end of the east room is apparent upon investigation of the interior--there is a brick fireplace and chimney stack there.

The shed has an exposed pegged frame, with sawn rafters butted together. A staircase in the east room leads to a finished (i.e. plastered) room in the 2nd story on the west. This room is particularly interesting for the graffiti that has been preserved: "Gover's Mills 1886", "Harry Gover", "Silk pokey-dot doll dress $1", "Canary and Cage $1-25", "Bess and Peg Inc. Toy Store".

A 3-holer frame outhouse is located behind the shed.

A marker by the road is inscribed "H G 1852".

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Gover family, owners of the Gover (now Noble's) Mill in the middle of the 19th century also owned most of the land around the mill itself on both sides of Deer Creek at that time. Both the 1858 Jennings & Herrick Map and the 1878 Martenet's Map indicate a cluster of buildings around the mill, and this house may be presumed to have been among them. A stone (perhaps a mounting block) with the initials H G and the year "1852" by the road suggests the house may have been constructed at that time, and there is graffiti in the 2nd floor of the board and batten outbuilding with the names of Harry Gover and Govers Mills and the date 1886. Although Harry Gover's name does not appear in the title search, this may have been part of the estate of Priscilla Gover, who died in 1790 and left her property to the sons of Benjamin Kidd Wilson and to Samuel, Eliza, Gerard, Robert, Philip, Mary, and Priscilla (or Mary Priscilla), the children of Philip Gover.

According to the Maryland Historic Sites Inventory form for Noble's Mill (HA-335), Robert Gover established Gover's Mill, and the present mill structure was built by Gerard Gover in 1854, although Mary Priscilla Gover owned the land at the time. The Govers sold the mill to Benjamin Noble in 1869, but continued to own property in this area, and by 1874 the Govers had lost all of their property in this area in trustees' sales.

Architecturally, this residential complex is extremely interesting. Although the house has been re-modelled, the presence of the knee windows is relatively unusual in the area and worth noting, and its low broad proportions are seen more often in stone than frame houses. Also, most smokehouses and kitchen buildings that have survived are of a more durable brick or stone construction. The survival of this frame smokehouse with its original cedar shakes and the frame kitchen/residence (for servants/slaves/mill workers?), later used as a playroom for the Govers, is also worth noting.
