DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Archer-Hawkins House is a two story, two section stuccoed stone house which was built about 1850 and is located about 1/4 mile east of Thomas Run near the intersection of Thomas Run Road and Cool Spring Road in Harford County, Maryland. The present main elevation faces northwest.

The two sections of the house were built at different times, but the exact dates and sequence is unclear. The north section is the smaller of the two, with a two-bay elevation facing southeast. The southernmost bay contains the entrance with a gable roofed frame entry porch. A second entrance is located at the north end of the section. The wood door jamb at this entrance has an inscription of initials ending in "W" and a date, 1866. The present owner assumes this to indicate that this section of the house is more recent than the larger section. The inscription is barely visible, having been painted over several times.

The larger section adjoins the smaller on the south. This portion has a three-bay main elevation facing northwest. The center entry once had a porch similar to that on the south elevation, but it has been removed. The wall area around the entrance has been left unstuccoed, exposing the rough stone wall. The stone has been heavily repointed. The south elevation of the larger section has four irregular bays. The window and door opening in both sections have brick flat arches. The fenestration is irregularly sized, but mostly 6/6.

There are two interior end chimneys on the larger section, the northern chimney being enclosed by the second section. An additional exterior brick chimney is attached to the north end of the smaller section to serve a wood stove. The roof of both sections is slate.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Archer-Hawkins House is significant as one of the group of 19th century stone buildings concentrated in the Deer Creek valley. It exemplifies the typical form of vernacular buildings in the mid-19th century in this section of Harford County: three bays with a center entry and a slate gable roof.

History

The property may originally have been part of the Archer farm (HA-52) nearby. In 1846, Stevenson Archer deeded 57-1/2 acres to Mary Archer, wife of Dr. Robert H. Archer. The first section of the present house was probably built shortly thereafter. In 1866, the farm, known as Glendower Farm was sold to William L. Hawkins. The deed mentions that the property contained parts of the tracts "Leigh of Leighton", "Howard Harbour", and "Paca's Industry". Hawkins may have made additions to the house after his purchase.

The old stone stuccoed house faces north as you enter the lane, but originally faced south. The stone roof/ridge line runs east-west. The ~~south~~^{north} facade is five bays, the ~~width~~ south is four bays evenly spaced plus two smaller bays at the east end - a window and a door, suggesting that end was once a smaller house "swallowed up" in the larger.

Chimneys also ~~indicate~~^{indicate} this inner wall, undoubtedly once an outer wall; ~~there~~ there is one ~~and~~ chimney at the west end wall and there are two in the middle of the house in from the first two bays from the east. (see sketch.)
