DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This frame structure, located at the end of a long lane leading from Robin Hood Road, faces south. The house is built onto low, stone foundations.

This dwelling represents three periods of time, the oldest of which is in the center. This is a one and one half story dormered unit built in the latter half of the eighteenth century. The roof in all three sections is gable flank and covered with asphalt shingles. Three brick chimneys rise from the roof. One is located in the two story kitchen addition on the west. Another is in the center of the west end of the old unit. The third is flush with the north end of the victorian unit on the east.

The oldest unit has two gable front dormers in the roof which extends to cover the screened in porch. Windows on the first elevation of this unit are 6/6. The principal door is on the center bay. Inside, this unit is divided into two rooms upstairs and down. Walls on the first floor have been paneled with knotty pine. The brick fireplace on the west wall has a two step mantle. The rectangular opening has been rebuilt. A closet is located next to the fireplace and next to that is the doorway to the enclosed, winding stairs to the upper elevation.

Upstairs are two small rooms lighted by dormers. There is no hall. The floors are of random width pine.

The two story kitchen addition has a separate stairway at the west side. Wood in the enclosed, winding stairway is beaded. Windows are 6/6. A door leading to the outside is at the center of the west wall.

The eastern addition is also two stories high. The roof has wide eaves with brackets and ornamental pendants. Windows are from the floor to the ceiling and are four lights over four. The principal entrance in this unit is on the southeast bay of the east facade. This has a three light transom and is flanked by sidelights with two panes each. A one tier porch runs the length of the east facade.

Inside this section consists of one room on each floor and a hall running east - west (see floor plan). A plain, brick fireplace is located on the north wall of the parlor room. This room has magnificent cornices throughout.

The cellar entrance is located on the north side of the east addition. There is a cellar under that addition and the oldest (center) unit. Stone fireplace supports are visible in the cellar under each fireplace mentioned above.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The house at Robin Hood Farm is of indeterminable age. A check against the 1798 and 1814 Tax assessments is of little help because the owner prior to 1824, Israel D. Maulsby does not appear to have owned the farm at the time of either tax assessment and the chain of title could not be traced back further.

It is known that Israel Maulsby was the father of William P. Maulsby who later was named a judge of the sixth Circuit Court in 1870. Judge Maulsby's protrait hangs in the Harford County Courthouse. He was born in Bel Air and after his term as judge, he moved to Westminster, where he died in 1872.
