

HA-802
CORRERI BUILDING
Havre de Grace, Md.

c. 1840's

The Corrieri Building is a three and a half story, four bay frame building of the Federal style. There is a fruit and vegetable shop on the ground floor and the owner and his family live on the upper floors. The brick oven in the rear indicates its past use as a bakery.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE (Include Personages, Dates, Events, Etc.)

Another example of a fine old building in the commercial area ^{almost} ruined by a plate glass storefront, and later by asphalt shingles above. Still good overall proportions. There are enough good sound old buildings here to make a renewal effort worthwhile if done
 as a concerted project.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

134 N. Washington St. is a three and a half story, four bay frame building. The owner lives above his fruit and vegetable shop on the first floor. A two story L-shaped wing with a one story brick addition on the north side extends from the rear of the structure. The store, in a row of commercial buildings, faces east. White asbestos shingles conceal the clapboards on the main block and wing.

The first floor, facade has a double plate glass store front with a paneled wooden base. The owner's name is written in gold on the front and a green and white striped canvas awning is above it.

Windows on the front elevation have 1/1 light, double hung sash at the second and third floor while the attic gable and rear windows have 6/6 light sash.

Four entrance doors are located in the facade; one on each end and two in the center. The five panel center doors have three light transoms while the north entry contains double glass doors and the south entry has a single glass and wood door.

The main block has a gable flank roof covered with asphalt shingles. Two dormers, with triangular pediments, shingled sides and 2/2 light sash are on the east slope; the shed dormer on the west slope appears to be a later addition. A large brick chimney straddles the ridge of the west end of the wing roof. Another tall brick chimney is located on the south end of the brick bakery addition.

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Corrieri Building is a 3½ story, frame store-residence built in the Federal style. The Corrieri family has sold fresh produce in Havre de Grace since 1898, first at a river front stand and then in 301 St. John St. (HA-795). In 1917, the father of the present owner bought the building, previously a bakery, in which the store is today. At least two buildings in Havre de Grace have brick ovens in the rear, holdovers from the time when they were utilized as bakeries; the Corrieri Building is one and the Bechtold House and Bakery (HA-806) is another.
