The Klondike Flintmill Site consists of a stone wall with furnace niches located against a hillside running in a generally north-south direction, about 20 yards east of Scarboro Road near the intersection of Boyd Road near Scarboro, Harford County, Maryland. The wall is about 8-12 feet high and appears to be about 40 feet long. There are two depressions or niches in the wall which were parts of the furnaces. The entire site is heavily overgrown and almost inaccessible in the growing seasons.

2 Fieldstone towers about 6' to 8' high set in the bank, the exposed face now fallen away leaving just the back section of the kilns in place in the hillside.

A wall supporting the flues extending 10' to 12' has deteriorated, as have side walls that once may have enclosed a room from which fuel was added.

A quantity of flint remains along the hillside.

ADAIR AND BUCHANAN FORGE (5)

Robert Adair and Archibald Buchanan took out a writ of ad quod damnum for 100 acres "on a draught of Water of Deer Creek near a place called the Mine or old Fields," for a forge mill, October 6, 1761. The inquiry was taken on Deer Creek on George Ridgdon's Spring Branch near a place called the Mine Old Fields." The land was valued at £ 5 present damages, but was already in possession of Adair and Buchanan by a Caution and Survey. The grant was made August 27, 1762. Chancery Records, Liber 9:105. Spring Branch is also called Mine Branch or Body Run. It enters Deer Creek from the north. Mine Old Fields is roughly east of Nursery Road, west of Mine Run, and between Minefield and Cherry Hill, MHM, 50:15. Also, OHH, p. 143.

ALDERSONS TANNERY (4)

Abel Alderson's son, Thomas, conducted a tannery, c. 1845, near Jarrettsville, Directory, p. 297. The 1850 census listed James B. Alderson, tanner, with $2500 capital, 2 employees, and production of 300 skins annually worth $600 by horse power.

AMERICAN POTTERY SUPPLY FURNACE (5) :-

In 1902, the American Pottery Supply Co. of Baltimore bought from Joseph T. and Florida F. Deckman 245 acres between Sulphur Run and Scarboro Road, bounded on the south by Deer Creek, HCLR WSF 104:153. James C. Gittings was president of the company. In 1906, the Baltimore firm transferred title to American Pottery Supply Co. of Delaware. In 1907, the company was in receivership after being sued by Frank Ehlen. The property was sold to Mary C. Phelps, and then to the Cohens and Kahoes, and in 1956 to the county. The abandoned flint furnace is standing (1971) on the east side of Scarboro Road north of Boyd Road.

AMES MILL ()

Joshua Ames owned one wooden gristmill, 30 x 25, out of order, on the tract Foxhill, 1798 tax list of Bush River Upper and Eden Hundred.

The furnace was sold in 1867 to Clement Dietrich of Cincinnati, who built a factory to make pyroligneous acid, a sort of acetic acid. The works closed down in 1876. The chief iron product had been metal for car wheels. At its peak, the company owned 5000 acres and there had been numerous buildings, as many as 48, including workers houses, rolling mill, sawmill, chemical house, general store, and a grist mill. The site was the present corner of Goat Hill and Creswell Roads. David Smith built a home on the foundation of the furnace building. See RIOM, p. 161; Directory, p. 235, and the best account in OHH, p. 146ff.

HARFORD FURNACE MILL (1)

The mill was conducted by Johnson and Smith in 1830 per papers of J.W. Williams, MHS Ms. 613. A mill is shown on James Run, east bank, west side of present Creswell Road on Martenet map. It was one of 48 village buildings, OHH, p. 148. Probably incorporated a sawmill. Clement Dietrich was listed as miller in 1875 Boyd Business Directory. Furnace Mill was built in the 1870's on Bush Run and was long closed per Bel Air Times, March 27, 1931.

HARFORD MILLS (6)

This textile works in Havre de Grace, Harford Mills Inc., had its machinery advertised in Democratic Ledger before the sale of February 27, 1935. The company's effects included:

- 8 Crompton & Knowles, 72-inch, 4 x 4 box looms
- 8 No. 1304 Halton Jacquard Machines
- 1 Altemus double gear beaming frame
- 1 lot Jacquard cards
- 8 electric motors ... and all shuttles, beams, reeds, spare parts. (In equity papers, No. 9954.)

HARFORD TALC AND QUARTZ CO. (5)

This company acquired 45 acres from William C. Boswell on Scarborough Road in 1921 to mine soapstone, HCLR Liber 173, f. 98. The abandoned crushers are on the north side of Mill Green Road east of Scarboro. The company was owned in 1968 by E.L. Dinning III and John B. Dinning, who were also associated with Maryland Lava Co.

KLINDIKE MILL () (HARF)

Klindike Mill, 1 mile south of Scarboro, was built about 25 years ago and operated one or two years. The stone was at first obtained from the company's quarry one-half mile east of the mill and later from Lochary quarry near Kalmia. 494 acres and a wooden tann
