Description of Property and Eligibility Determination: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map and photo)
The Old Vaughn Place is located at 907 South Fountain Green Road and now belongs to Michael and Marion Gullivan. According to the Harford County tax records, the Gullivan or Vaughn House dates to 1920. However, the house is a center gable I-house with three bays, and has arched windows in each of the gables, which would make a late nineteenth century construction date more probable. There is one addition to the south, which is one story with a side gable roof. The entire roof system has been covered in composite asphalt shingles and the building exterior is clad in vinyl siding. The hipped roof porch with its standing seam metal roof and decorative porch posts is one of the few original features retained in the building. The I-House was a popular style in rural areas from the nineteenth into the early twentieth centuries. As a result of the vinyl siding and asphalt shingle roof, as well as the ongoing development of farm land for suburban houses, the Gullivan or Vaughn House lacks integrity of materials, feeling, association and setting. Although the property is included in the Maryland Inventory of Historic Properties, it is not eligible for inclusion in the National Register of Historic Places under Criterion C, due to the alterations made to the building and its setting since its initial construction. Research conducted did not identify associations with Criteria A (events) or B (people). No research was conducted under Criterion D.
