Criteria:  A  B  C  D Considerations:  A  B  C  D  E  F  G  None

Justification for decision: (Use continuation sheet if necessary and attach map)

The house at 10570 Scaggsville Road is not eligible due to the fact that it does not meet National Register Criteria A, B, C, or D. Preliminary research has not revealed any association between the dwelling and events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history (Criterion A) or the lives of persons significant in our past (Criterion B). Although the building provides an example of the Colonial Revival style, it is neither unusual nor distinguished; it does not represent the work of a master or display high artistic merit (Criterion C). There is no evidence that the property is likely to yield information important in history or prehistory (Criterion D). Thus, the property is not National Register-eligible.

CAPSULE SUMMARY
10570 Scaggsville Road
(HO-700)

The store at 10570 Scaggsville Road was erected in 1901 for Joseph D. Harding, a local landowner who purchased 110 acres from Jeremiah Hegeman in 1900. The store displays vernacular elements commonly associated with rural commercial facilities. Although significantly altered by the removal of the two-story front porch, the store retains its original form.

The store consists of a 2-1/2-story wood frame building with a rectangular footprint. The main block of the original building sits on a solid, poured concrete foundation and is clad in stucco on the first story with asbestos shingles above. A single, corbeled-cap brick interior chimney pierces the roofline, while a metal stovepipe enclosure is attached on the north elevation. The building has been enlarged by the construction of the one-story side addition with a parapet roof. This wood frame commercial addition, clad in asbestos shingles, has a single entry opening and triple show window.

After its construction in 1901, the store remained in the hands of Joseph Harding until 1933, when it was sold to Edna M. and Charles M. Ridgely. That same year, Harding subdivided a portion of his 110 acres of land at the northwest corner of Scaggsville Road and Leishear Road into five lots. The store was located on lot 1. The Ridgelys owned the property until 1952, selling it to Homer G. and Thelma A. Spitzer. The current owners, Effrain and Gladys Y. Larenas, and Leon and Elsa G. Lorenas, acquired the property at 10570 Scaggsville Road in 1984. Not longer operating as a commercial store, the building is currently for sale.

The 1901 store at 10570 Scaggsville Road consists of a 2-1/2-story wood frame building with a rectangular footprint. The main block of the original building sits on a solid, poured concrete foundation and is clad in stucco on the first story with asbestos shingles above. A single, corbeled-cap brick interior chimney pierces the roofline, while an metal stovepipe enclosure is attached on the north elevation. This vernacular building has been enlarged by the construction of the one-story side addition with a parapet roof. This wood frame commercial addition, clad in asbestos shingles, has a single entry opening and triple show window.

The store occupies a corner lot at the northwest corner of Leishear and Scaggsville roads. The property consists of 27,442 square feet of level, grassy land. The building stands approximately fifteen feet from Scaggsville Road with a gravel parking area at the front. A few mature trees grow at the rear and west sides of the building.

EXTERIOR DESCRIPTION:

The facade, or southwest elevation, of the store at 10570 Scaggsville Road is three-bays wide with a one-story porch extending across the width of the building. The porch has a shed roof supported by square posts. The first story contains a centered double-leaf wood paneled door with square-edged wood trim. This main entrance is flanked by single 6/6 windows on either side, similarly trimmed with square-edged wood molding. The second story has three openings: a central entry with a panel-and-light door flanked by 6/6 windows. Replacement asbestos shingles indicate the facade originally had a two-story, full-width porch, a typical feature of rural commercial establishments. The windows and door on the second story retain their original square-edged wood trim. A single 1/1 window pierces the third story of the south elevation.

The one-story wood frame addition extending off the southwest elevation of the original store building sits on a poured concrete foundation and is fronted by a wood parapet wall used for signage. The addition is sheltered by a standing seam metal shed roof and clad with asbestos shingles. The facade has a single entry opening, filled with a panel-and-light wood door, and a triple show window with both 1/1 and fixed lights. The parapet wall is crowned by a molded wood cornice.

The first story of the southeast elevation facing Leishear Road is obscured by the 1-story east addition, thus, only the second story of the original building is visible. It is pierced by four window openings, unequally spaced, filled with 6/6 windows and adorned by square-edged wood moldings. The southeast elevation of the one-story addition has a triple window in the westernmost bay. This window is similar to the one found on the facade, containing both 1/1 and fixed lights.

The northeast elevation of the original building contains one 1/1 window on the first story and two 6/6 windows on the second story. These windows are trimmed with square-edged wood moldings. The northeast elevation also contains an exterior end metal chimney stack. The northeast elevation of the one-story addition has a row of three two-light awning windows. Mechanical equipment, extending to the exterior end chimney stack on the original main block, pierces the elevation at the eastern corner.

The first story of the northwest elevation has a single entry opening with a replacement door. Elongated openings, paired and single respectively, mark the first story to the west. The paired openings have replacement 1/1 windows, while the single opening has a 6/6 window. The plane of the wall, at the first story only, from the west edge of the entry to the southwest corner is clad with stucco, while the remaining bay has asbestos shingles. The second story holds four window openings, unequally spaced. The opening directly above the entry has a replacement 1/1 sash, while the remaining windows are 6/6. The windows on this elevation have square-edged trim.

OUTBUILDINGS:

There is one historic outbuilding associated with the store at 10570 Scaggsville Road: a one-story wood frame garage with a gable roof. The garage stands near the north corner of the property and faces southwest onto Scaggsville Road. Dating from the 1920s or 1930s, the building is clad in German siding. The gable roof, covered with standing seam metal, incorporates a wide overhanging eave with exposed rafter ends. The entry opening contains a double-leaf paneled wood door. Two shed additions, one of wood frame and the other of sheet metal, extend from the rear of the garage to the northeast.
