Rich Levels II
Golts
Private

Mid-18th Century

Reflecting the verticality of the mid-19th century, the building is two and one-half stories tall with small, low freize windows in the attic. The frame house has a central hall and bracketted cornice. This building resembles nearby Rich Levels (K-129) in its remodeled form.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

There are two houses in Kent County called Rich Levels. The older of the two (K-129), a mid-18th century brick house remodeled in the mid-19th century and the house originally known by the name, is the neighbor of this one. The buildings resemble each other superficially and are owned by the same family.

Rich Levels II is a five bay frame house with a flat hipped roof and rear ell. It is a mid-19th century house which shows both Greek Revival and Italianate influence.

Fenestration on the facade is evenly spaced with tall 6/6 sash windows in the first and second floors and 3/3 low sash windows in the attic. Frames have backband moldings of a fillet and shallow ogee. Shutters on upper floors are louvered, but those on the first have two recessed panels with flat ogee moldings; all are painted black. The main entrance, behind a screened porch, has a four pane transom light and four pane sidelights; the door has two narrow, vertical panels with shallow moldings.

The building is sheathed in 6" weatherboard with narrow corner boards. At the cornice are paired, plain brackets, there is a bold crown mold and platform which may have had a widow's walk. The roof is raised seam tin.

Inside there is a central hall with a stair with a bold octagonal newel and turned balusters on an open string. First floor door frames have a modified "Tudor" arch lintel and crossette outlined with flat moldings. There is a chair rail in the dining room and mantles with shelves, rectangular openings and pilasters with sort of an arched top at the frieze.

The building, part of a working farm, is well maintained and used as a single family residence.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Rich Levels II is a typical house of the period in the middle years of the 19th century after the decline of the Federal style but before the height of the Revival period. Consequently it is simple and regular in form but influenced by the new ideas; the low attic frieze windows derive from Greek Revival and the brackets and verticality is related to Italianate proportioning. The design illustrates one vernacular solution in a transitional period in architecture and is significant for that reason.
